Dave's Notes

Harvest time is back again. At AgCarolina Farm Credit, we are very appreciative of all the efforts of those involved in the agricultural industry. Times have been tough lately with trade wars, foul weather, low commodity prices, and many other factors contributing to tough times in our industry.

AgCarolina Farm Credit will continue to be a leader in providing lending solutions to the farmers and rural residents of eastern North Carolina. Our team of lenders and support staff are grateful for the opportunity to work with you on a daily basis.

We applaud you for the strength you continue to show through adversity. We thank you for consistently rising up to meet the daily challenges you face. I hope you have a great harvest season, and I look forward to seeing you this fall at our member appreciation dinners!
